

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods of treating diabetes in mammals, particularly humans, by blocking or inhibiting VEGF-mediated activity. A preferred inhibitor of VEGF-mediated activity is a VEGF antagonist such as a VEGF trap capable of binding and blocking VEGF.